

Global Emerging Markets Fund

Jeffrey Casson
Co-Lead Manager

Jeffrey Casson joined Martin Currie in 2010 as an investment manager. As well as managing our Latin American strategy, he also has responsibility for researching stocks in the Telecommunications, Media and Civil Engineering sectors. He came to us from SWIP, where he spent five years as an investment director on the global emerging markets desk. As a portfolio manager, he was lead manager on the company's Latin American strategy and supported the management of its GEM Smaller Companies strategy. In his role as a sector analyst, he focused on telecommunications and consumer stocks. Before joining SWIP, Jeffrey was an investment manager at The Alliance Trust, where he began his investment career in 1999. Jeff is a CFA Charter holder and has a Bachelor of Accountancy (Hons) from the University of Dundee. He is also a KPMG Prize Winner (top-performing senior honors student on the Bacc course) from the University of Dundee.
